Educational Researcher

Volume 36, Number 4 May 2007

Editors’ Notes ................................................................. 185
Patricia B. Elmore, Gregory Camilli, Anthony J. Ongwuegbuzie, and Marla H. Mallette

Features
Estimating Causal Effects Using School-Level Data Sets ......................................................... 187
Elizabeth A. Stuart

Book Reviews

A Thick Description of Thick Description
Peter Smagorinsky

Research and the “Inner Circle”: The Need to Set Aside Counterproductive Language
Nancy L. Leech

A Response to “Research and the ‘Inner Circle’: The Need to Set Aside Counterproductive Language,” by Nancy L. Leech
Peter Smagorinsky

A Response to “A Thick Description of Thick Description,” by Peter Smagorinsky
Nancy L. Leech

AERA Highlights
2007 Annual Meeting Hits a New High ................................................................. 204
AERA Honors Scholars for Contributions to Research ......................................................... 208
New NSF Assistant Director Marrett Addresses Research Community .............................. 211
AERA Releases New Book on Estimating Causal Effects ..................................................... 214
Spencer to Give 2007 Brown Lecture .............................................................................. 215
Call for AERA Award Nominations .................................................................................. 216
AERA Nominating Committee Seeks Recommendations ................................................. 218
2008 Annual Meeting Call for Proposals ........................................................................... 219
Call for Applications for AERA Grants Program ............................................................... 240

Classifieds ....................................................................................................................... 241